

Raquel Duque is an Adviser to the Minister of State and Foreign Affairs (since February 2019) and is also a professor at the Institute for Political Studies – Catholic University of Portugal (IEP-UCP).

She holds a Ph.D. in Political Science and International Relations – Security and Defence (IEP-UCP), a M.A. in International Security and Terrorism (University of Nottingham), and a B.A. in Political Science and International Relations (Nova University of Lisbon). During her PhD, she was a Visiting Graduate Student at St Antony’s College (University of Oxford) and spent the fourth year of her B.A. at Sciences Po, Paris.

Raquel is a researcher at CIEP, as well as at ICPOL and CAPP. She is an auditor on both National Defence and Civil Management of Crises by the Institute of National Defence. She has published articles, book chapters, and has also co-edited books. She has participated in numerous conferences in Portugal and abroad.

Her professional background includes, among others, work in the Permanent Mission of Portugal to the United Nations, the Directorate-General for Foreign Policy of the Portuguese Ministry of Foreign Affairs, and the Centre of European Information Jacques Delors.