

EDUCATION

Carlos Barnabé Upindi Pacatolo (pacatolo@yahoo.com.br; carlos.pacatolo@unipaget-angola.org) is PhD Candidate in Political Science and International Relations at the Institute for Political Studies at the Portuguese Catholic University and was awarded with the “ALEXIS DE TOCQUEVILLE PRIZE” for the best student of 2015; MSc in Economics and Public Policies at the Lisbon School of Economics & Management at the Lisbon University and was awarded with the “QUIDGEST PRIZE” for the best student of 2011; BA in Political Science and International Relations at the Institute for Political Studies at the Portuguese Catholic University; BA in Philosophy at the Roman Catholic Major Seminary of Bom Pastor at the Benguela Diocese of Angola;

WORK EXPERIENCE

Lecturer and Senior Tutor for BA in Economics & Management at Jean Piaget University of Benguela – Angola; Visiting Senior Lecturer at the Mozambique Catholic University, Faculty of Social and Political Sciences; Visiting Senior Lecturer at the Katyavala Bwila University (Angola), Faculty of Economics; Political Advisor of the Mayor of Lobito Municipality - Benguela Province - Angola (2010 – 2015); Member of the National Electoral Commission of Angola at Lobito Municipality (2012 – 2015)

CURRENT PUBLICATIONS & COMMUNICATIONS

Pacatolo, Carlos (2016), “Angola: The Process of Fiscal Decentralization and Its Challenges”, In Pereira, Paulo T. (Editor), Local Governments: Institutions, Finance and Public Policies in the context of Decentralization, Almedina Editora;

Pacatolo, Carlos (2015), “The Role of Public Diplomacy in the Process of Advocacy”, presented at SECAM (The Symposium of Episcopal Conferences of Africa and Madagascar) Advocacy Strategy Development Consultative Meeting, 27 November to 01 December, Nairobi-Kenya;

Pacatolo, Carlos & Sarmiento, Enilde (2015), “State Activism as Condition for Development: Angola and Mozambique” presented at the International Congress From Decolonization to Post-Colonialism: A Global Approach, November 11 – 13, at the University of Porto – Portugal;

Pereira, Paulo T. & Pacatolo, Carlos (2014), “Decentralization and Local Government in Angola: Challenges and Opportunities”, presented at the International Congress of Municipalities and Local Powers in Africa (16th – 21th), November 4-6, at the New University of Lisbon - Portugal;