

Manuel Poêjo Torres is a subject matter expert in Hybrid Warfare and a Research Fellow in the Institute for Political Studies of the Catholic University of Portugal. He is a PhD. Candidate in Political Science, Security and Defence in the same university, and holds an MA in Strategic Studies from the University of Reading (UK), having defended his thesis on Planetary Space Defence.

Professionally, Mr Torres serves NATO since 2013 and has authored several multi-domain high-visibility Allied Joint Exercises. Mr Torres has been a member of the NATO HQ's International Staff serving the Defence Investment Division as the Coordinator of NATO's Main Armament Groups (NAAG, NAFAG and NNAG) while having the privilege of serving as Secretary to the Capability Defence Executive Board (CDEB), chaired by the Deputy Secretary-General of NATO.

Throughout his international career, Mr Torres has worked with several committees to support the development of NATO's Allied Space Policy.